HEAVY TRAVEL HELPS TRADE

CITY GROWS IN BEAUTY

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

Never since the arrival in Salt Lake of the emigrants has the tourist travel through Utah been so heavy as during the present season. Every train that crossed the state in any direction has been loaded to its capacity. Trains have been run in three and four sections, and still it has been with the greatest difficulty that the traveling public could be cared for. Hotels, restaurants and rooming houses have done a tremendous business in Salt Lake as a result of the unusual travel. Visitors have come in vast armies; they have visited the resorts; ridden over the city; inspected the mines and smelters; studied the resources of the state with a view to settlement or investment; and then they have passed on to compare the advantages of Salt Lake City and Utah with those to be found in other places in the west.

This unusual tourist travel has been the salvation of local business in the estimation of many shrewd business men. The travelers have for the most part been of the better classes from the east and south. They spent their money freely and in this way gave a stimulus to local trade which is needed. It went far to offset the drain caused by the heavy resort business and the extreme hot weather a good part of the summer.

Fall Trade Will Be Good.

The outlook for fall trade is considered especially good. Merchants in all lines are counting on a heavy volume of business and good collections. Wholesale and jobbing trade indicate this, and the heavy crops in most lines, together with the prices for the products of the ranch and range, furnish a good foundation upon which to build.

The real estate situation is looking brighter. The torpor that settled down upon this branch of business soon after the visit of the Los Angeles businessmen is showing signs of passing. Inquiry at all the leading real estate offices in the city indicate that there is to be an activity in the fall to eclipse anything seen in recent years. The activity will be confined to no particular section of the city and no special line of property.

For the City Beautiful.

"Salt Lake is to be one of the most beautiful cities on the American continent within five years."

This statement was made yesterday by W. J. Halloran, president of the spirited citizens of the city; a man who travels much and one who is a close observer of what is being done in the way of city improvement.

"When Brigham, First, Second and Third South streets have been paved and parked according to the plans now under consideration, with a wide boulevard on each side of the street and asphalt paving in the center, there will be no more beautiful city anywhere. I take a great deal of satisfaction from the public improvements being made by the city administration. The money expended in this way will return to the property owners many fold before five years have passed."

These sentiments expressed by Mr. Halloran are held by many, not only those who live in Salt Lake, but visitors from all sides. Travelers, after they have seen Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane and Los Angeles, are enthusiastic over the beauty of Salt Lake and the magnificent prospects ahead. Building is keeping up remarkably well in the city, although there are few large buildings under construction. Work has started on the Houston-Salisbury street, and the city is looking more and more like a city of the future.

John McDonald's building on Main street, near Third South, is being started on the city and southern suburbs. The city is looking more and more like a city of the future.
